

BAZA – Balkanska Ženska Akademija Empowering women to shape tomorrow

21-24 September, 13-15 October, 17-19 November 2023

The Friedrich Naumann Foundation for Freedom is the liberal political foundation of the Federal Republic of Germany. For more than thirty years, it has been promoting open and tolerant societies, civic engagement and the rule of law in the Western Balkans with the aim of strengthening democratic and pluralistic principles in the region and thus actively supporting the countries' European integration with its liberal values of freedom, peace and tolerance.

Our mission is to create change by empowering women to pursue their political ambitions. We believe that gender equality can only be ensured through adequate political representation not only in parliaments and councils, but also within liberal parties themselves. For liberals, there is no doubt that society as a whole is only served if the female part of society can develop as freely politically as their male counterparts.

Recognizing that the social circumstances are far from ideal, we want to prepare women as best we can for their commitment to change. Even if we cannot immediately change the framework, we can empower those who will work to do so. We do this in the belief that there is a desire in the region for cross-border collaboration among strong women who support each other, offer advice and support, and want to reform their respective societies in the same way.

“BAZA – Balkanska Ženska Akademija” supports women in their quest to dismantle the gender barriers that stand in their path, and to fight every day for a future shaped by their voices. We offer tailor-made training modules within a three-month academy so that talented, ambitious liberal women can develop to the best of their abilities at all stages of their political journey. Eventually, we support female change makers to fearlessly and creatively advocate towards more gender equal politics in countries of the Western Balkans.

What is BAZA – Balkanska Ženska Akademija?

“BAZA – Balkanska Ženska Akademija”, organized by FNF Western Balkans, is a three weekend (Thu-Sun) empowerment program for up to 15 women taking place in September, October, and November 2023. It is mandatory for participants to participate in all three sessions. Venues will be in Croatia for the first session, Bosnia and Herzegovina for the second and Serbia for the third session. Events will be held in rural areas to ensure maximum focus on the issue at hand.

One-of-a-kind experiences with fellow change-makers

Ivana Fundurulić

Teacher | Alumnae of the Alliance of Her 2022

Ivana is a mathematics and physics teacher from Zagreb, Croatia. Her passion for teaching is complemented by a drive for continual learning and knowledge-sharing, actively seeking out new projects and workshops that foster growth and enlightenment within her field. Ivana made history as the first female president of the University’s Mountaineering society Velebit, breaking barriers since its establishment in 1950 showing that her leadership skills extend beyond the academic realm.

In 2019, Ivana stepped onto the political stage. Today, she holds several key roles within the party “Centar”: organizational secretary, secretary of the party’s Zagreb branch, and the head of the party’s educational committee. Throughout all her ventures, Ivana persistently advocates for education, women’s rights, and environmental preservation. Her interest in these areas not only reflects her professional expertise but also defines her personal convictions and shows consistent investment in empowering her students, promoting gender equality, and protecting the environment for the benefit of future generations.

Jasmina Mršo

Jasmina Mršo is an expert in working with political foundations and political parties and a skilled capacity-building trainer and moderator who worked on many local and international projects. She is an editor for the PartyParty magazine and offers strategic support to the European Network of Political Foundations (ENoP).

Jasmina is also the Secretary-General for the Liberal Southeast European Network (LIBSEEN). She was an elected local councillor in Sarajevo for Naša stranka. She describes herself as a “political nerd” with a formal educational background in pharmacy and a passion for gender equality activism.

Vukosava Crnjanski

Director | Long-time Women Empowerment Coach

Vuka has worked as a trainer and practitioner since 2004, providing capacity-building in advocacy, public outreach, campaigning, strategic planning etc. Her work extends to political parties, non-governmental organizations, government officials, media outlets, and institutions on a local and international scale.

As the founder and director of the Belgrade-based NGO CRTA, she focuses on the development of innovative and practical mechanisms for citizen engagement. Her organization plays a key role in advocating for an open, accountable, and democratic government in Serbia. Her contributions to democracy and innovation have earned her international recognition. In 2013, she was awarded the W. Averell Harriman Democracy Award by the National Democratic Institute. Under her leadership, CRTA received the OSCE 2018 Democracy Defender Award for promoting democracy and defending human rights. Additionally, the NGO earned the 2018 Commissioner for Information of Public Importance Award for its contribution to free access to information in Serbia. Earlier this year, Vuka was awarded the National Order of Merit of France, of the rank of a knight.
